AMERICAN MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY Manhattan, New York

The Museum is home to over millions of artifacts and features an impressive collection of exhibitions and collections about the human cultures and the natural and scientific universe. This institution includes 25 connected buildings, 46 exhibition halls, and more than 32 million specimens of our natural history.

The Museum is also one of the world's preeminent scientific and cultural institutions. Since its founding in 1869, the Museum has advanced its global mission to discover, interpret, and disseminate information about human cultures, the natural world, and the universe through a wide-ranging program of scientific research, education and exhibition. The Museum is renowned for its exhibitions and scientific collections, which serve as a field guide to the entire planet and present a panorama of the world's cultures.¹
