

SPOTLIGHT

PLUTO TV Los Angeles, California

Pluto TV is an internet streaming video service owned by ViacomCBS. However, unlike other subscription-based streaming services, Pluto TV offers free content mainly curated from what's already available online, supported with video advertisements seen during programming within ad breaks. You can access the Pluto TV website from a web browser and it's widely available across desktop, mobile, and set-top box devices, as well as smart TVs. If you're on an iOS or Android phone or tablet, you can download the official app from each respective store. Apple TV, Roku, Amazon Fire TV, and Android TV devices all have apps available, plus smart TVs from Vizio, Samsung, and Sony offer up a Pluto TV app. The service has 100s of channels from more than 170 content partners. Their huge library of on-demand content spans across all genres of movies, news, TV shows, sports, documentaries. The service has more than 26 million active users, making it the largest free TV streaming service in the U.S. <sup>1</sup>
